

We are recruiting . . .

Professional Standards Manager

Closing Date 07/05/2021

UKROEd is responsible for the management and delivery of the National Driver Offender Retraining Scheme (NDORS) on behalf of the Police Service. The successful applicants will join a small team and be part of an ambitious organisation that is challenging and yet caring; with our leadership being determined to further develop standards and consistency of service delivery to improve Road Safety in the UK.

We are looking to recruit a Professional Standards Manager to carry out investigations into complaints and compliance matters to ensure the quality of the scheme is maintained.

The role is home based but will require frequent travel in the UK and some overnight stays, to conduct investigations and interviews into complaints and/or compliance breaches.

The postholder will be required to demonstrate an ability to work individually and as part of a team, be computer literate and able to prioritise a busy workload. Experience of conducting through investigations and interviews is essential.

The role may require some weekend, evening and Bank Holiday working dependent on business needs:

Salary: circa £50,000-£52,000

Leave: 28 days plus bank holidays and other incentives

Closing date: 07/05/2021

Interview dates: To be notified

For more information about individual roles and access to supporting documents please contact Alan Jones at recruitment@ukroed.org.uk